

HIRAN MINAR

The Hiran Minar is one of the most popular historical places in Pakistan as far as visits are concerned. And though it is a tomb- this one is a bit different than others! Most tombs in Punjab and across Pakistan house the remains of saints or royals but the Hiran Minar is dedicated not to Mughal Emperor Jahangir, but his pet antelope. Yup you read that right- Emperor Jahangir was known for his love of nature and the Hiran Minar exemplifies that. It's also set in a bit of a wilderness, which gave the Mughals a bit of a natural escape from the bustling city of Lahore.
