

SAIF-UL-MULUK

The lake is the crown of the head of Pakistani beauty. It's located in Mansehra District, Khyber Pakhtunkhwa near the Naran town and on the end of Kaghan valley. The Lake is named after the famous tale of love of a Persian prince Saif Ul Muluk with a fairy princess Badri Jamala, written by a Sufi poet Mian Muhammad Bakhsh. The breathtaking view of high glacier mountains and rich green slopes also reflects green-blue shadows in the water.
